

Baumüller Academy – Your drive for the future

At the Baumüller Academy, knowledge about Baumüller products and system solutions and beyond is imparted through professional, individually tailored training courses and activities. Baumüller trainers pass on their expertise in modern, well-equipped training rooms as well as in the Technical Center with machine applications. These are not just boring theory lessons, but are instead based on the principle of “learning by doing.” On specially developed training systems, participants can learn how to program, set parameters, and carry out fault analyses on control units, converters and motors.

Customer-specific courses

We also offer customized courses on site at your company. This is particularly beneficial if training is needed directly at the machine or if several users from a single company are being trained at the same time. We are regularly on the road sharing our know-how, both nationally and internationally. And we do so both at the customer’s premises and at one of the more than 40 Baumüller branches worldwide.
